The film was released by Universal Pictures and Buena Vista International on November 24, 1999. It collected $66.9 million in North America and $145.1 million elsewhere, for a global total of $212 million. The film received mostly negative reviews. Plot In 1979, the Pope sent a priest on a mission to protect a newborn baby, Christine York, identified in New York by satanists as the mother of the son of Satan after seeing a comet arched on the moon in the Vatican. However, some Vatican knights (led by a corrupt cardinal) insist that she be killed. In 1999, Satan owned an investment banker in a restaurant before destroying the restaurant and the people inside it. Suicidal and alcoholic, former detective Jericho Cane, depressed after the comission killings of his wife and daughter, works for a private security company and blames God for his situation. Jericho and fellow Bobby Chicago are in charge of protecting the possessed banker. A priest, Thomas Aquinas (presumably named after St. Thomas Aquinas), fails to kill the banks Jericho captures Aquinas, who says to Jericho, "The thousand years are over, the dark angel is released from his prison", and says that a woman Mine's in the middle. Aquinas is then arrested by the New York Police Department. Marge Francis, a NYPD detective and former colleague of Jericho, tells Jericho that Aquinas does not speak. Jericho and Bobby investigate Aquino's apartment, where they find his tongue in a jar and messages and symbols written in blood on the walls. Marge arrives, revealing that the Aquino was trained by the Vatican and sent to New York before disappearing. Jericho interrogates Father Kovak, a priest who knew Aquinas. Kovak says Aquinas was driven mad by forces Jericho couldn't understand. Satan enters Aquinas and crucifies him on the ceiling. After he is brought down and presumably dead, Aquinas wakes up, grabs a syringe for Jericho, but shot from one of the police officers. Jericho and Chicago have read in Latin "Christ in New York" carved in the skin of Aquinas; They start looking for similar names and meet Christine York in her apartment. Jerico saves him from being killed by the Vatican Knights, however, Satan blows the Chicago van, killing him and putting the apartment on fire. Jericho fights by Mabel, and he and Christine flee the flame apartment. Satan kills Mabel for the failure of her; Marge and another officer, both revealing to be satanist, the demand for Jericho to surrender to Christine. Jeriche's fegnants surrender before killing them both, he escapes Christine, while Satan resurrects Marge to gather the other satanists to make him's offers. Taking refuge in the church, Father Kovak tells Jericho and Christine that Satan must improve her at midnight at New Year's home to introduce the "end of days". Despite the skepticism of Jericho, Christine accepts the protection of Kovak, and Jericho returns to him. Satan faces Jericho in the apartment of him and tries to try him to give up Christine in exchange for her to resonate her dead of her. After Jericho resists the temptations of him, Chicago arrives to knock on the door of his apartment shortly after. Skeptical of the survival statements of him, Jericho shoots in Chicago in his arm to test if Satan has possessed the body of Chicago. Satisfied that it is really Chicago, the two agree to recover Christine from the Church. Back to the church, Gerico stops Cardinal and his knights to kill Christine. Satan reappears and kills the Vatican clergy. Chicago betrays Jericho, leaving him to be beaten and crucified by a crowd of Satanists, revealing that he made a pact with Satan, who raised him after the van exploded. After Chicago part with Christine, Kovak finds and save Jericho. After healing of him, Jericho, he keeps track of the satanists in their den. Jericho kills Marge once again and saves Christina after she convinces Chicago to resist the influence of Satan, only for Satan to burn Chicago to death to break their pact. Jericho and Christine escaped the whurrence in a subway tunnel and go up a train. Satan follows them on the train, killing the driver. Jericho, however, separates the train in two before shooting a grenade in Satan, destroying the Satan train machine was inside. With the body of the banker now irreparably damaged, Satan abandons his guest to pursue Jericho and Christine, leaving the banker to die. While fleeing, Jericho and Christine arrive in another church, where he renews his faith in God and prays by force. Satan as a huge winged creature emerges under the church to possess Jericho. Satan now in the body of Jericho tries to hit Christine, but Jericho, responding to Christine's requests, is able to resist Quite long to be deliberately released on a sword that protrudes from a statue of Archangel Michael, sacrificing himself to prevent Satan's endangame. At midnight race, God free Jericho and sends his back Satan Satan Hell as the world celebrates a new millennium. Jericho sees his wife and daughter waiting for him in the underworld. Jericho dies peacefully, and Christine hugs him in tears before leaving the church together. Music Soundtrack Main post: End of Days (soundtrack) The soundtrack of the film mainly contains tracks by industrial rock bands and alternative metal.
