I doubt it's for sale, but they may have clues. I know where he sits today as I see him almost daily. I am quite familiar with those recovered in Afghanistan and even before the US military found them, the US tank collectors had already examined and abandoned the idea of repatriating them because of the bribes that would be needed to secure the deal. I hope that if I can get the word outside I may be able to find enough pieces and pieces to do something with. They execute him during events. It doesn't hurt to ask.
